

Conflict of Interest Statement

The policy of the Interdisciplinary Journal of Psychotherapy is to ensure the balance, independence, impartiality and scientific precision of its articles. We expect all authors to disclose any real or apparent conflict(s) of interest to readers that may directly relate to the subject matter of their article. This includes any relationship with pharmaceutical companies, manufacturers of biomedical devices or other corporations whose products or services may be related to the subject matter of the article or who have sponsored the study.

This policy is not intended to prevent authors from publishing who may have a potential conflict of interest. The intention is merely for any potential conflict to be openly identified so that readers may judge the article for themselves given full disclosure of the facts. It is for the readers to determine whether the authors' outside interests may have led to a possible bias in the presentation of the conclusions presented.

Please state below whether any conflict of interest exists:

- I confirm that no actual or potential conflict of interest exists in relation to this article.
- I confirm that a conflict of interest in relation to this article exists as defined below: (please describe any financial interest/arrangement with any organization(s) that may be perceived as a real or apparent conflict of interest in terms of the subject matter of this article):

Name _____ Signature _____ Date _____

Please upload this form together with your online manuscript submission since your manuscript cannot be sent for review without it.

Please also add a Conflict of Interest Statement at the end of your manuscript, preceding any Acknowledgements and References, using the phrase, "We declare that we have no conflict of interest" or state your conflict of interest.